

Commercial Relocation Network Monthly Update

May 26, 2019

A Letter from Scott Luedke

First and foremost, I would like to thank the entire membership for giving me the opportunity to be the President of the Commercial Relocation Network these last several years. While being President I have strived to maintain the honor and integrity of our vision as set by our founding fathers, while still being open to innovative change. To all the board members before me, I would like to give a special thanks for taking the time to mentor me as well as investing their time to show me the way to good stewardship. It has truly been an honor to personally develop and be involved with multiple learning initiatives such as the creation of the Guide Book, a few web sites as well as the professional development area that truly shares the secret sauce of our membership.

This has been an enriched time, a time where I have contributed my expertise, a time where I imparted skills, some life lessons and a time where I have learned a great deal. I have learned that CRN is an exceptional class of members that give selflessly of their time and expertise. A special place to share with your friends and colleagues what makes you the best of the best. An atmosphere that challenges you personally every year to become better than you were the year before. The environment paves the way to consistently strive for knowledge and personal growth, so you may be able to share with your peers what's new with you the following year.

The past few years have also taught me the value of having a positive and enthusiastic group of board members around you. I have witnessed these colleagues giving tirelessly of their time to enhance the image and productivity of CRN. I want to acknowledge that everyone on the board has played a valuable part in making CRN a first-class organization. I'm excited to see where the next President will take us. I believe in Brandon Stephens and that all the board members will guide us to even higher heights throughout the years to come. I am excited, as I am sure we all are, to witness the board and our new President, Brandon Stephens take us to even higher heights throughout the years to come.

Once again, I am extremely grateful for the roles that I have played throughout the years - they have been happy years that I will always remember fondly.

Sincerely,

Scott Luedke
